

SEMINAR 4:
FSSA SPECIAL HAZARDS

Chris White A.A.S, AET
Service Manager- Corporate Suppression Group
Koorsen Fire and Security

Chris has worked in the fire protection industry for 25 years, all with Koorsen Fire and Security. Started as a special hazards technician in April of 1996, then within 6 years became the Clean Agent Corporate Trainer and worked out of the training center. While serving in the training role, he re-developed the classroom and hands on to better meet the needs of the company due to changes to hazard protection. He also helped develop a new inspection, maintenance and testing workbook to meet all the different agents and hazards for more accuracy.

He is now the Service Manager for the new Corporate Suppression Group at Koorsen. He is responsible for ensuring all 26 branches are meeting customer and company needs for clean agent, Co2 and aerosol systems for inspection, testing and maintenance.

Chris is NICET Level II- Special Hazards and in June of 2021, graduated Summa Cum Laude from Purdue with an Associates in Fire Science. He is also part of three committees with the FSSA; Marketing, Program and Educational. Chris also carries a Level III in Enclosure Integrity testing.
